

Interviews

Radio / Television / Podcast / Print

ACCEPTABLE TOPICS:

- Recent Films and Projects
- Uncle G Daddy's Kitchen
- Living Single
- Kratos God of War
- State of Black men in America
- Education
- The Importance of Public Schools
- Politics and Voting
- Jazz Music
- Acting and Voice Acting
- Wellness Wednesdays
- Self Care
- The “Culture”
- Spirituality and God
- Yoga and Meditation
- Al Jarreau and Ella Fitzgerald
- Arts Education
- Voice Acting
- Black Power

UNACCEPTABLE TOPICS:

- Traditional Religion
- Relationship and Personal Life
- Firing from Living Single

TC Carson

ARTIST Singer / Actor / Dancer

It's no secret that there are countless famous singers, actors, and dancers who grace television and film. There are; however, only a select few artists who are Triple Threats: They sing, act, and dance with equal excellence. Terrence "TC" Carson is one such artist.

A trained dancer and an Emmy Award-winning actor, he has performed in iconic plays, musicals, and tour productions from "The Wiz" and "Sesame Street Live" to "Dreamgirls", "Ain't Misbehavin'", and "Blackberry Daze". He is best known for portraying Kyle Barker on the FOX sitcom, Living Single; voicing Mace Windu on Star Wars: The Clone Wars; and his long-running voicing of Kratos in the God of War video game series.

He is known to a new generation of fans as a recurring guest star on the Oprah Winfrey Network's mystery drama series, Greenleaf; voicing Samuel in the PBS Kids animated series Clifford the Big Red Dog; and as guest star on The CW's superhero drama series, Black Lightning, and CMT's musical soap opera series, Nashville.

A gifted vocalist, TC has the vocal range of Al Jarreau and the percussive skill of Bobby McFerrin, two artists he admires. From soaring falsetto to velvety, rich baritone, his vocal artistry tells stories about loving and living.

